To whom it may concern,

Starting April 1st Johnson County Building department will be conducting two new inspections on any applicable permits issued from that date onward.

1) Poured wall inspection:

This will be on poured concrete basement walls and grouted block basement walls prior to pouring concrete. The purpose of this will be to inspect reinforcement (rebar) placement to ensure compliance with Section R404.1.2 Concrete foundation walls and Tables R401.1.1(1), R401.1.1(2), R401.1.1(3), and R401.1.1(4).

2) Insulation inspection:

This inspection will be prior to hanging gypsum board but after batt, blown or spray foam types of insulation have been installed. The purpose of this inspection is to ensure compliance with the adopted energy code (Chapter -11) of the Indiana Residential Code.

As always Johnson County will try to serve the best interests of both the home owner and the contractors and work with both on scheduling these inspections.
